Mania, Medicine, and Mirandas: A Doctor’s Story of Bipolar Disorder and Recovery

- Friday, April 26th at 7:00-8:30pm
- Hyatt Regency Seattle

Dr. Hines shares his deeply personal journey navigating bipolar disorder, life-altering legal challenges, and the path to professional and personal redemption. He highlights the critical role of physician wellness programs, mental health support, and resilience, from both a structured recovery and accountability standpoint. Attendees will gain a deeper understanding of bipolar disorder’s impact on high-stress professionals and the importance of reducing stigma to foster compassionate care and holistic well-being in physician health programs.

This is a ticketed event at a cost of $125 per person. Plated dinner included. Advanced purchase required.

Purchase your ticket to this event when you register to attend the FSPHP 2025 Conference & Annual Membership Meeting.

Impaired Physicians – Health Problems Aren't Just for Patients Abstract Available

The “Ask the Expert” column published in the American Society of Anesthesiologists January 2025, edition of the Monitor, reports on the topic of Impaired Physicians – Health Problems Aren't Just for Patients. It is very refreshing that Dr. Fitzsimmons the current Chair of the ASA Advisory Group on Substance Use Disorders Prevention and Co-Chair of the ASA Working Group on Physician Mental Health and Suicide Prevention has a very reparative mindset. My view is that each physician needs to be evaluated, treated and advised individually and not one size fits all.
