REENTRY TO PRACTICE

Report of the FSMB Workgroup on Reentry to Practice
Adopted by the FSMB House of Delegates, April 2025

Executive Summary

Physicians may take a leave from practice for a variety of reasons that later necessitate reentry. The following document contains guidance for state medical boards when considering potential reentry to practice requirements for physicians seeking to resume active practice following a significant absence. Recommendations offered in the document reflect an appreciation that unique situations sometimes exist for physicians – as well as physician assistants/associates (PAs), for whom many of the policy recommendations in this guidance may also apply – seeking to reenter practice, and flexibility is therefore encouraged, as is the need to consider reentry decisions on a case-by-case basis.

Key considerations for state medical boards in reentry decisions include:

- time out of practice;
- clinical and other relevant activities of the physician while out of practice;
- the need for assessment of a physician's competence prior to reentry to practice;
- reentry during public health emergencies;
- collection of data about licensee clinical activity;
- the variety of challenges faced by physicians seeking to reenter practice;
- instances where absence from practice occurs to manage potentially impairing stress;
- monitoring and supervision for reentering physicians; and
- offering specialty-specific requirements when retraining is required due to a change in scope of practice or a lack of training or experience in the physician's intended scope of practice.

The following recommendations are included for state medical boards:

- 1) State medical boards should proactively communicate with and educate licensees/applicants about the issues associated with reentering clinical practice and ways in which the individual may demonstrate engagement in clinically active practice.

<sup>1</sup> Physicians and PAs are held to different standards of practice, reflecting differences in their training, experience, and expertise. Additionally, the degree of practice independence for PAs varies by state, with some requiring physician supervision and others allowing greater autonomy depending on regulatory frameworks.

FSPHP Contributes to National Reentry to Practice Policy

In April 2025, the Federation of State Medical Boards \(FSMB\) adopted the updated Report of the FSMB Workgroup on Reentry to Practice, a significant step forward in supporting physicians returning to clinical practice. Dr. Chris Bundy, Chief Medical Officer of the Federation of State Physician Health Programs (FSPHP) and Executive Medical Director of the Washington Physicians Health Program, played a pivotal role in shaping this important policy update. His expertise and leadership were instrumental in guiding the FSMB's efforts to ensure safe, effective, and compassionate pathways for physician reentry.
