FSPHP has a Powerful Presence ACPH 2025 Transforming the Future of Physician Wellbeing – Better Together

In an ongoing effort to elevate awareness and expand access to Physician Health Programs (PHPs), ten FSPHP member programs from across the U.S. were proudly represented at the American Conference on Physician Health (ACPH), held in Boston on September 11 – 13. This premier national event brought together Chief Wellness Officers, medical executives, and health system leaders who are shaping the future of clinician wellbeing.

FSPHP's presence underscored the vital role PHPs play in sustaining the health and effectiveness of our medical workforce. Several FSPHP leaders delivered key presentations, sharing insights on best practices, early intervention strategies, and the importance of state PHPs' confidential support systems for physicians.

Program highlights included:

- Sessions on organizational culture transformation
- Evidence-based approaches to peer support and burnout reduction
- Panels exploring system-level interventions for sustained clinician wellbeing
- Collaborative opportunities with national leaders in health systems, academic medicine, and policy
